Glass

1 Koan Plus

Italian door manufacturer Lualdi has updated its popular Koan line of fixed and sliding wood, metal and glass panels with the grid-like composition of slats in Koan Plus. The partition system is available in extra clear, grey or bronze glass, with a natural or mocha oak or Canaletto walnut frame. lualdiporte.com

2 Horizon Etch

Consisting of 1.2-by-3-metre low-iron, laminated glass panels, 3Form's Horizon Etch reinterprets the striations of a signature fabric into a line of translucent surfaces. The three designs — charcoal Meteorite, dusty blue Orbit and neutral-toned Steep — are suited for commercial settings. 3-form.com

3 CastGlass Intervals Levels

Available with black or white interlayers, the textured cast glass that makes up Forms+Surfaces' latest release is designed for walls, elevators and even columns. In eight configurations, the laminated product adds subtle dimension and artisanal flair with its distinct small-scale patterning. forms-surfaces.com

Films and Coatings

1 Bodaq

This self-adhesive, vinyl-backed film includes a vast number of options that mimic architectural finishes. Stone (Ice Terrazzo is shown), wood, marble, metal, fabric, solid colour and outdoor versions can be easily applied to most surfaces and are fire-retardant and moisture-resistant. bodaq.com

2 Argille

With 24 earth-toned hues, such as Terra (shown), HDsurface's Argille collection of cement-based coatings is meant for both indoor and outdoor use. Composed of clay, vegetable cellulose fibre, natural lime and micronized marble powders, the lightly textured material is also eco-friendly. hdsurface.it

3 Obscura

Skyline Design's new film for glass and other smooth surfaces is made with visual privacy in mind. Called Obscura and offered in three colourways as well as two diffuse patterns (Perspective is shown), the PVC-free polyester product comes in four widths: 20.3, 40.6, 61 and 91.4 centimetres. skydesign.com
